EXCELLENCE

Since the organization of the Assault on Illiteracy Program (AIOP) in the State of Oklahoma, Langston University has been an ardent and zealous supporter. The university recognizes that there is no social ill in our society today more destructive to the attainment of excellence in education than illiteracy. The Assault on Illiteracy Program offers our best chance for networking with other concerned leaders. In such a consortium of groups as is found in AOIP, Langstonites have a unique opportunity to advance a whole people to a point of self-respect, self-sufficiency, and excellence in education.

Sharron and the President of Langston University Dr. Ernest L. Holloway

State Representative Freddy Williams stops by the Langston University table to greet students and faculty members attending the banquet.

The Langston Upward Bound Program hosted the 1987 Leadership Conference consisting of nine state schools. The Conference was held at Arrow Head Lodge. Pictured below is Alice Allen a former Upward Bounder and is now an alumna of Langston. She spoke for the luncheon session. Mrs. Mae Dean Wyatt, Director of the Upward Bound Program, is pictured on the dais with Miss Allen.

The five 1987 graduates of Coyle High School pictured below participated in the LU Upward Bound program (10th-12th grades). The graduates are Sarah Moore, Valerie Franks, Karen Renfro, (Counselor for the Program Juanita Goff), Monica Lozano, and Winona Johnson

Working on a project

Living in a controlled, well-planned and highly supervised learning environment was experienced by 285 young people participating in the project Basic Education Skills and Training for Living in a Functional Environment (BEST FOR LIFE). The program which helped to motivate young people to develop their personal behavior, social amenities, and to teach them how to prepare for life and their future goals is the second of its kind in the nation. Dr. Lester Clark (not pictured) served as project director.

Seated are prison inmates who volunteered to talk to Best For Life participants on the deplorable conditions of being incarcerated in order to "scare" them from committing acts of crime.

The equipment and facilities depicted are just a few of the many features of the new Multi-Purpose Building. The 1.3 million dollar structure has two levels. The upstairs, or mezzanine level, contains an exercise area with Nautilus equipment, an office, a training room with whirlpools and trainer benches to work and a two-lane indoor jogging track of synthetic rubber.

Downstairs, the gym floor will accommodate either two courts of basketball, or two courts of olympic volleyball. A curtain divides the floor in half. Bleacher seats in the area will accomodate over 100 persons.

Men's and women's locker room facilities include 139 lockers each, and a large restroom and shower area. There is also a check-out room to check in and out athletic equipment. Next to this area is a control room which will be combined as an office for all mechanical and electrical systems in the building, so that one person in charge of the facilities will be able to program in all commands for heat or air and the lighting.

Skylights provide extra light over the mezzanine area, while abundant flourescent lighting illuminates the rest of the building. A foyer, made of glass and brick, ties the building to the William H. Hale Student Union. Both sides of the foyer contain a patio area with attractive lighted planters.

The Multi-Purpose Building was officially dedicated October 28, 1987 following the Fall Honors Convocation.

Modern equipment, one-on-one instruction (when needed), and an exceptional faculty provide motivation for attaining excellence!

Whether studying alone or with friends, learning CPR or folk dancing and technical woodwork, EXCELLENCE is LU students goal!

Fish Culture Field Day is an annual event sponsored by the Research and Extension Program at Langston University. The pictures on this page depict a demonstration of aeration techniques for replenishing the oxygen in ponds to insure the longevity and productivity of fish. LU scientists have conducted research and collected data to prove that small farm ponds can produce several hundred pounds of catfish and trout for the family table or for profit. Farmers and representatives from sister institutions attended the event.

Langston University Lake

In the fall of 1987, Langston University will receive a masterplan for developing Langston Lake for outdoor recreation use by students, faculty and surrounding area residents from the U.S. Department of Interior (DOI) and the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA). "The university will receive $20,000 to $30,000 worth of free architectural services," explained Robert Buechner at a meeting with Langston University officials.

The group met first with Langston officials and later took a tour of the lake area. Their visit ended with a wrap-up session and a visit with the president to discuss their future plans. The final product of the visit will be a Feasibility Study produced by the Southwest Region of the National Park Service."

Langston University's President Dr. Ernest L. Holloway said that he is supportive of the project to help develop the lake and that he views it primarily as a means of offering further educational opportunities to students. He gave as an example the plans for building a Wilderness Retreat area by an organization from Oklahoma City which will be used primarily as a facility to assist handicapped persons. He commented that this would give physical therapy students an opportunity to work with persons at the retreat.

Dr. Clyde Jacob, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Central State University

The LU Concert Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Alexis Anderson-Rainbow with Mrs. Sarah Phillips as accompanist, enthralled the audience with Roland Carter's arrangement of "Lift Every Voice and Sing".

Dr. Jean Bell Manning, Vice President for Academic Affairs, introduced Dr. Jacob.

Dr. Walter L. Jones, Professor of Biology, received a standing ovation following his superb and appropriate presentation of the Formal Opening occasion.

FORMAL OPENING

The September 16, 1987 Formal Opening marked LU's 90th year of her founding. The choice of a speaker on this historic occasion was excellent.

"The start of something new is always exciting," Dr. Clyde Jacob told guests at the Convocation. The academic leader from Edmond explained that students and faculty should be excited about the opportunity and possibilities that are presented with the beginning of a new school year.

"You should make a commitment to excellence," he told the faculty and students. "Each of you can always look around and find reasons not to be excited," he explained. But he reminded both students and staff that the business of higher education is all about EXCELLENCE.

"Excellence in both learning and teaching is what Langston is all about," Dr. Jacob added. "I know that there are a lot of things that you can be disgruntled about, and there are adverse situations that can keep you from making that commitment. But Langston was born out of adversity and it continues to thrive on adversity," he reminded them.

Drs. Wesslyne Simpson and Jean Bell Manning

Sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. (Alpha Zeta Chapter, undergraduates at LU, and Alpha Upsilon Omega, the graduate chapter) saluted Dr. Wesslyne Simpson, Mid-Western Regional Director and director for the division of education; and Dr. Jean Bell Manning, vice president for academic affairs, at a reception in their honor on February 22, 1987 in the Sanford Hall Lobby.

Dr. Simpson received honors for being the first soror from Alpha Upsilon Omega Chapter who has served in the capacity of regional director.

Dr. Manning received honors because she is the first woman to hold the position as vice president in the history of Langston University.

Both Dr. Simpson and Dr. Manning received gifts from the various Greek organizations and their departments honoring their accomplishments.

Special guests and members of the sorority from other chapters across the state were on hand to pay tribute to Drs. Simpson and Manning.

Basileus of the graduate chapter Beverly H. Smith; Dr. Manning; Dr. JoAnn Clark and Dr. Simpson get together before the guests arrive.

Dr. Eunice Ponder (class of '51), "First Lady" and professor of business Management at Fisk University, was the inspiring speaker for the ninetieth annual Founders Day celebration.

President Holloway (class of '52) presents Dr. Henry Ponder (class of '51), president of Fisk University, the Distinguished Alumnus Award.

Dr. Louise Latimer, chairperson of the English-Communication Department, receives the 30-Year Service Award.

Immediately following Founders Day Convocation, President Holloway places a plaque on the "Time Capsule" buried on the observance of Founders Day 1986.

COMMENCEMENT 1987

President Ernest L. Holloway presided over the Eighty-Seventh Annual Spring Commencement Convocation and introduced the speaker (pictured right) The Honorable Mickey Edwards, United States House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

PRESIDENT ERNEST L. HOLLOWAY

March 12, 1987 marked the 90th year of the founding of this great institution. As we embark on the next decade leading to our Centennial Anniversary, perhaps, we should reflect on our past accomplishments—how far we have come. However, now is not the time to rest on past achievements for in the words of the poet, “(We) have promises to keep and miles to go before (we) sleep.”

Those of us who work here, those of us who graduated, and those of us who support Langston University are committed to “strive on with courage her honored shrine to save.” I know we have made tremendous progress and I believe that great things lie ahead. However, progress is not automatically self-sustaining. Therefore, the entire Langston University family must continue to “focus on excellence in education” and by doing so, we SHALL prevail.

Ernest L. Holloway
President

General Motors Corp. donated $250,000 to Langston University for a scholarship endowment under the terms of an agreement with the U.S. Equal Employment Commission. Dr. Ernest L. Holloway accepted the grant in a Washington, D.C. ceremony. Langston is one of 32 colleges and universities sharing $16 million paid by GM as part of a conciliation agreement resolving hundreds of charges of employment discrimination. Pictured left to right are Harry Singleton, Langston University's Washington Representative; Joy Cherian, an EEOC chairman; Commissioner; Dr. Ernest L. Holloway, president; Clarence Thomas, EEOC Chairman; Thomas Gawel, assistant director of employment relations, General Motors; and R. Gaul Silberman, EEOC vice chairman.

Darrell Dilks, left, manager of the Guthrie Office of Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company is pleased with the presentation of a check for $2,000 to President Holloway by W.F. Bill Hill, Western Region District Manager of O.G. & E. The check covered the final installment to the Langston Endowment Fund.

The Oklahoma City Chapter of the National LINKS, Inc., made its third donation of $500 to the Langston University Development Foundation Endowment Fund. Dr. Jean B. Manning, vice president of academic affairs and president of the Oklahoma City chapter presented Dr. Ernest L. Holloway the check.

The national organization recently completed a $1,000,000 gift to the United Negro College Fund. The Oklahoma City Chapter of LINKS is actively involved in leadership roles in the greater Oklahoma City area. Each year the group sponsors an annual leadership conference which brings together civic, social sororial, fraternal and religious groups to discuss issues, ideas and common community concerns.

In addition, the organization has four major local thrusts that are a part of the national organization program. These include Services to Youth, National Trends, International Trends and the Arts.

Other officers include Dr. Belinda Biscoe, vice president; Dr. Helen Carter, treasurer; Helen Johnson, secretary; and Lucille Washington, corresponding secretary

Flossie Thurston, Program Leader for 4-H and Youth Development with the Langston University Research and Extension Program, was chosen "Employee of the Month" for October. Mrs. Thurston said her main interest is working with parents and children. "Strengthening families is a priority. Society has imposed many demands upon children which deprive them of some of the carefree times of childhood," she said. "I think laughter is the life-blood of the soul," she continued. She is a native of Ardmore, OK where her mother, Mazola McKerson, once served as mayor. Roy Joe Ben Thurston, her husband of 22 years, is also from Ardmore. They are the parents of a daughter Joy and a son Roy.

WELCOME GUESTS

Carl Rowan, nationally known columnist, brings a different perspective on American History to students in one of Dr. Ada Lois Fisher's classes during a visit to the campus. Rowan was on campus to interview Dr. Fisher to obtain information on her experiences during the historic Sipuel v. Oklahoma decision that made national headlines over thirty years ago for a national TV special.

A full Amelia R. Taylor Theater crowd listens to Dr. John H. Corbitt, pastor of Springfield Baptist Church of Greenville, S.C., explain necessary elements for success during his motivational seminar on campus during Black Heritage Month observance.

President Ernest L. Holloway presents a plaque of appreciation to State Representative Don Ross, chairman of the Legislative Black Caucus, while Student Government Association President Anthony Watson (1876-87) reads the citation. Rep. Kevin Cox, Sen. Vicki Miles-LaGrange, Sen. Maxine Horner and Rep. Freddy Williams, other members of the Black Caucus, also received plaques.

Consultant Dr. Clinita Ford (seated at head of table), of C.N.J. Associates, Inc., conducts an external Special Needs Evaluation of the 1986-87 Title III Grant with program participants.

Sophomore biology-chemistry major Shawn Jones talks with Dr. Delmont M. Hopkins, a research chemist with the United States Geological Survey Agency, about future employment with the department.

Langston graduate Dr. Julia Hare explained to students how and why the black family structure must be preserved if black people are to survive as a race. Dr. Hare, an educator, was on campus as part of the Black Heritage month observance.

POTPOURRI

Job Corps Cadets from Guthrie trained with Langston's Security Staff. Going over the list of duties and expectations prior to their training with security personnel are Greg Morgan, Chief Orville Cornelius, Ronald Drew, Andrea Thompson and Levern Powe.

Wichita Falls, Texas senior sociology major Frederick Franklin portrays Malcom X as he explained the history of the black man during "The Black Truth" presentation.

Students from Young Hall Dormitory, Erica Byrd of Guthrie and Carla Robinson of Hugo, check out the new stove given to the dorm by the Oklahoma Federation of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc. Making the presentation as a representative of the club is Almeda Parker, retired director of the Division of Business.

Dr. Christopher D. Lu, professor at the American Institute for Goat Research, holds a goat while Melody Johnson, a participant from Oklahoma City in Langston's Food and Agricultural Sciences Minority Enrichment Program, gets a close look.

Patterson to Prime Minister of Jamaica Edward Seaga. Shaking hands with the prime minister is Dr. Evelyn LaRue Pittman, nationally known musician from Oklahoma City who toured with the choir.

LU JAZZ BAND

Dr. Clyde Montgomery directs the band as Harold Cole, a freshman business administration major from East St. Louis, thrilled the audience with his tenor saxophone during the annual Christmas Concert presented by the Jazz Ambassadors.

In addition to his talent as an excellent tenor saxophonist, Fred Hammond, a senior education major, is student assistant director of the Jazz Ambassadors.

Guest performer Clarence M. King delighted the audience with his jazz technique. King's full-time position, however, is district director of the Wichita Internal Revenue Service.

Johnny C. Williams, a senior criminal justice major, has been a member of the marching and jazz bands for four years.

The Dust Bowl Players, under the direction of "Monty" Prock, presented "Saving Grace," a zany tale which won theater arts major Crista Taylor and Gusty Harvey "Awards of Excellence in Acting." They were also selected as representatives from Langston University to vie for the Irene Ryan Acting Awards on a national basis.

Dustbowl players William Sneathern, Christa Taylor, Gusty Harvey, Patrick McShan and Carl Fletcher (background) prepare the props for their presentation of "Saving Grace" at the Oklahoma American College Theatre Festival in Chickasha.

The Student Government Association is the organization to which all students of the university belong. The Association offers leadership in all phases of student government and social activities and keeps the student body abreast of developments within the college and other relevant information through regularly published newsletters, bulletins, and open forums.

REGENTS AND PRESIDENT'S SCHOLARS

During the Fall Semester of 1985, Langston University initiated a scholarship program designed to provide scholarships to freshmen based on established academic criteria. The program was divided into two categories. Category I consisted of Regent's Scholars who received full scholarships. They were selected based on satisfying at least two of the following minimum requirements:

- ACT Score of 19 or above
- SAT score of 950 or above
- Upper 1/4 of graduating class
- Cumulative Grade Point Average of 3.25 in high school

Each Regents' Scholar must maintain a minimum G.P.A. of 3.25 per academic year to retain the scholarship.

Category II consisted of President's scholars. They receive 100% tuition fees and half of room/board per academic year. They were selected based on satisfying at least two of the following minimum requirements:

- ACT score of 17 or above
- SAT score of 900 or above
- Upper 1/3 of graduating class
- Cumulative G.P.A. of 3.00 in high school

Each President's scholar must maintain a minimum G.P.A. of 3.00 per academic year to retain the scholarship.

Various out-of class activities were held to inspire these students to work to their academic potential. These activities began with a special ceremony as part of the traditional Freshman Induction Ceremony and followed with seminars and special sessions of guest speakers, community projects, field trips, and sponsoring of campus events. Among the community involvements is one specific project to provide tutoring services to the students at the Langston University Elementary School. Additionally, the scholars, sponsored a blood drive for the American Red Cross.

EXCELLENCE

Striving towards the Ultimate goal, grasping
For what seems to be invisible,
Falling headfirst into a world
Of Uncertainty and Grimace.
Never knowing exactly how hard
To strive, but always knowing
It must be done. The epitome
Of greatness. The absolute
Best of everything, beginning
And ending with style and triumph
Is definitely Excellence.
